FOREWORD

A larger number of exhibits were submitted this year than ever before. Of the five hundred and sixty-seven, one hundred and ninety were selected by the Jury. As usual, oil paintings predominate. An unusual number of watercolors received the favorable judgment of the Jury. I regret that so small a showing of graphic arts is noticeable these last few years. It is hoped that next year a larger participation in these interesting mediums — drawings, etchings, block prints —will take place.

A new activity of the Toledo Federation of Art Societies, the securing of Associate Memberships from laymen interested in art, though started late in the season, was a very helpful aid. A goodly number of memberships at five dollars each, together with other donations, made possible a complete series of prizes for all the classified mediums submitted by Toledo artists.

One of the Jurors, Mr. Bulliet, has very kindly sent a personal statement regarding the exhibition as a whole, and I take pleasure in including it herewith.

"The Toledo artists, I was glad to find on examining their work, are going their own way and not the way of 'isms', still too prevalent in America. If we are to have an American art it must be one of genuine observance and honest recording. The method is not important, but it is important that the individual 'soul' of the landscape, the person or the still life be caught. It seemed to me that the Toledo artists, in the main, were interested in just that instead of in imitating the mannerisms of artists fashionable at the moment."

This year the Federation has made an effort to interest the public in the need of financial support. Members have solicited, and have secured, a goodly number of Associate Memberships at five dollars each. With this financial aid, and that of a few more generous donors, it has been possible to award prizes in all the various classes of art mediums. Next year it is hoped that many more Associate Members will be secured and thus make possible more substantial prizes in recognition of the work of Toledo artists. Much of the work exhibited is for sale. The artists hope that the public will be interested and that many purchases will be made. A price list is kept at the Information Desk, at the entrance to the Museum, and those on duty at the desk will assist in any possible way.

The Federation is grateful to those who have made the prizes possible. Besides several anonymous donors, the following are noted: E. Paul Brooks (Brooks Insurance Company), First Prize in Oil; DeVilbiss Company, First Prize in Sculpture; Toledo Blue Print Company, First Prize in Watercolor; Woodruff Brothers, Gold Frame.
